

CAPITALIZATION

Study the following uses of capital letters:

- A. Use in the first word in a direct quotation: Tom asked, "What time is the show?"
- B. Use in the first word in each line of poetry:
Listen my children and your shall hear
Of the midnight ride of Paul Revere,...
- C. Use in the first word in the main and subtopics of an outline:
 - I. Advantages of dehydrating foods
 - A. Storing
 - B. Shipping
 - C. Packaging
 - II. Process of dehydrating foods.

Correct the following poem by writing the needed capital letters above the words in which they should have appeared.

There once was a parrot named polly,
 who whistled the tune "hello, dolly."
 Wrote a book called your pet
 for her favorite vet,
 and he exclaimed, "oh, my golly!"

Circle the words that need capital letters in the outlines below.

Motion pictures

- I. selecting the picture
 - A. the idea
 - B. the story
 - C. the screenplay
- II. producing the film
 - A. the budget
 - B. the cast
 - C. the sets

Electricity

- I. uses of electricity
 - A. homes and industry
 - B. communication
 - C. transportation
- II. principals of electricity
 - A. static electricity
 - B. current electricity
 - C. magnetism
 - 1. magnetic poles
 - 2. magnetic fields.

The following sentences contain no capital letters. Write the needed capital letters above the words in which they should have appeared. Altogether you should find 23 missing capital letters.

1. our teacher, miss hogan, said "lets find out what we know about electricity."
2. "the greeks experimented with static electricity many years ago," volunteered norman.
3. "benjamin franklin performed the famous kite and key experiment," added betty.
4. timothy said, "some french and german scientists worked with electricity before franklin did."
5. "a man named alessandro volta invented the first battery in 1800," commented terry.
6. then our teacher said, "now we'll read some more about electricity in our new textbook, science today."