Course revisions, new courses, and new certificates and programs will be submitted via CurriQunet as of Fall 2019. Please scroll down to access Division Matrices to determine courses in need of review and to see course discipline assignments (i.e., what discipline(s) can teach a given course).

Red Notebook 2008-2009 – Although much of this document is dated, it is provided here for your reference.

Create a new course or revise an existing one – credit and noncredit

If you are planning on creating a new course or revising an existing one you will do this through CurriQunet. The Curriculum chair is available to provide training.

Request a course to be offered via Distance Education (online)

This can be done via CurriQunet as of Fall 2020. Prior to submitting a request for Distance Education, please contact the DE committee to receive a 508 compliance certificate for your course. Typically this requires 4 weeks of your course to be built out. After you receive a 508 compliance certificate for your course, please upload the certificate to the course file in CurriQunet. You will also need to attach Division minutes. The Division minutes should indicate an approval for this course to be offered in the online or hybrid format. The DE Addendum Review Criteria document below can be used as guidance
