Catalog Course Description:

This course is designed for students desiring to work with children in a group setting, as well as for parents and others who wish to further their understanding of how the socio-cultural environment affects the developing child. The course examines the historical and contemporary interrelationship of family, school and community on child development. The process of socialization and identity formation will be highlighted, showing the importance of respectful, reciprocal relationships that support and empower families. This course meets the Department of Social Services Classification Indicator DS2 and the State of California Department of Education Title V Child Development Permit.

Student Learning Outcomes:

- The student will discuss the role of the family as the major socializing agent.
- The student will describe the role of culture in socialization.
- The student will identify key characteristics of developmentally appropriate group care facilities.
- The student will describe the effect of community, peers and media in the socialization process.
- The student will identify how community resources serve and support families.
- The student will discriminate healthy family involvement with unhealthy family involvement.
