Catalog Course Description:
This course provides the student with an in-depth overview of the issues related to the leadership, policies and practices of homeland security in America and abroad. This course provides for the critical examination of the challenges facing the nation and the homeland security enterprise through detailed investigation of selected case studies from a leadership perspective. Students will analyze significant issues of homeland security from social, political, economic and cultural perspectives facing the nation. This course adds to the Homeland Security program with an in-depth study of the policies and practices affecting homeland security.

Student Learning Outcomes:

- SLO 1: Demonstrate a broad range of federal policies and procedures enacted since the events of September 11, 2001.
- SLO 2: Demonstrate organizations involved in homeland security.
- SLO 3: Demonstrate how to analyze, evaluate and make inferences of homeland security issues and problems.
- SLO 4: Demonstrate natural or manmade hazards which threaten the safety and security of the United States.
