Catalog Course Description:

This introductory level course is for students interested in the humanities, law, medicine, politics, social science and related fields, and will expose them to some of the most profound moral and ethical questions in the Western philosophical tradition. We will examine the concept of morality and values, representative ethical theories, and may include their applications to moral problems.

Student Learning Outcomes:

Provided with a practical scenario, students will use an ethical theory to determine the right course of action.

Given examples of each type, students will correctly compare and contrast the main ideas of two ethical theories.

Provided with reading passages, students will correctly articulate the associated ethical theories.

Provided with a scenario, students will demonstrate the relationship between an ethical theory and the meaning of life.

By logging into Canvas you affirm that you are the student who enrolled in the course(s) and are the person who will complete the assigned work. Furthermore, you agree to follow the regulations regarding academic integrity, personal identification and the use of student information as described in BP 5500 (Standards of Conduct) and AP 5520 (Student Conduct Procedures) which are the Rio Hondo College student conduct codes that govern student rights and responsibilities. You acknowledge that failure to abide by the regulations set forth in BP 5500 and AP 5520 may result in disciplinary action, including expulsion from the college.
