Summer Sessions Help Students "Finish Faster"

End of the Year Celebrations

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dr. Ted Martinez, Jr.

This month we set another Rio Hondo College record – 1,148 students are graduating, the largest number in our 45-year history. Congratulations to everyone, faculty, staff and administrators, who have collectively worked so creatively and diligently to help our students succeed.

Commencement is always memorable, this one especially so with one of our outstanding alums who delivered the Commencement Address. It is always heartwarming to see 'one of our own,' Marlene L. Garcia, become a pacesetter and role model. Please help us identify others you may know of or hear from! And congratulations to Dr. Frank O'Kelley, the 2008 recipient of the "Fellow of the College" award.

Thanks to Cathy Butler, Director of Student Activities, and her crew, and to all who contributed to making this year's ceremony outstanding, and to those who labored to make every end-of-year celebration special for our students and their guests.

We continue on fast-paced path to completion of the Self Study Report, in anticipation of the AACJC-WASC accreditation team's visit in October. Nearly 70 individuals represented a cross-section of campus constituencies, academic disciplines and student service areas as they participated in the development of the draft document, which is now in the hands of the editors.

Special thanks to co-chairs Gil Puga and Dr. Paul Parnell, and to our WASC Liaison, Dr. Loretta M Cannett-Bailes. We anticipate that the Governing Board will have opportunity for a first reading in June. The final draft will be presented for their approval at the July meeting.

As the college campus approaches the beginning of summer classes next month, I encourage you to remind your families, friends and neighbors that our summer sessions provide an opportunity for students to 'finish faster' in an environment that includes more convenient parking, even during construction progress!

Rio Hondo College Celebrates 45th Commencement

After several days of set-up by Grounds, Maintenance, Custodial and Utility crews and the Commencement Committee, practice for grads and platform principals, the soccer field was ready for the grand event.

The familiar sound of Elgar's Pomp and Circumstance signaled the beginning of the 45th Annual Commencement May 29. Nearly 600 of the 1,148 students receiving Associates Degrees marched on to the field, setting records both for participation and for the number receiving degrees. More graduates means more guests, of course, so this year the Grounds and Maintenance crew set up an additional 1,000 chairs.

Guests and grads were welcomed by Superintendent/President Ted Martinez, Jr., Ph.D. President of the Board of Trustees, Angela Acosta-Salazar, congratulated the graduates and encouraged each of them to continue their education and come back to this community as lawyers, doctors, nurses and professors.

Henry Gee, the Vice President of Student Services, shared five compelling stories of Rio Hondo College students, all of whom have beaten the odds to get to graduation day. Michelle Carcamo, Ana Fonseca, Bertha Glorae, Mireya Vigil and Cristy Killeen stood to receive applause for their success.

Dual enrollment student Jacob John Moore was the class Valedictorian. At just 18 years of age, he transfers to Cal Poly Pomona to begin his junior year this fall.

Commencement speaker Marlene L. Garcia spoke of her own journey to graduate from Rio Hondo College in 1977. She attended Rio Hondo concurrently with her father, each looking to education to broaden their opportunities. In the 31 years that have passed since Marlene L. Garcia crossed the stage she earned bachelor's degree at UCLA and a master's degree in Public Policy Analysis from the Claremont Graduate School. She now has 20 years experience working in the legislative arena. Currently, she is a gubernatorial appointee serving as the Vice Chancellor for Government Relations for the California Community College Chancellor's Office, where she advocates for community college students.

Garcia reminded each graduate to know who they are, and work everyday to pursue their dreams.

After each graduate's name was read, blue Frisbees filled the sky as graduates celebrated their success and began the next phase of their lives.

In anticipation of increased traffic for the commencement event, additional security officers as well as the California Highway Patrol directed incoming traffic into parking lots prior to the event, and staged the flow of traffic in order to reduce congestion at key egress points.

Special thanks to Director of Student Activities Cathy Butler and the Commencement Committee, for coordinating the event.

Alumni Success Stories

We know that Rio Hondo College graduates achieve success throughout their lives. Examples of a few of our more established alums include Danny Romero, ABC 7 weatherman; R. Doyle Campbell, Chief of Homeland Security for the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Office; and County Supervisor Gloria Molina. Here are two more!

Eric Rodriguez was recognized Friday, May 23 at Brown University when he received the prestigious 2008 Joslin Award. Eric graduated from Rio Hondo College in 2006 and transferred directly to Brown University.

The Joslin Award is presented each year by the Office of Student Life at Brown to more than ten graduating seniors who have distinguished themselves through their involvement in campus life and student activities. The Joslin Award is named for the late Judge Alfred Joslin, class of '35, is presented to students who have made significant contributions to the University through their leadership and service.

Eric was a guest speaker at the recent Rio Hondo "Boots to Books" President's Gala. At that time he expressed his gratitude to the faculty and staff at Rio Hondo College who helped him prepare for the rigors of Brown University. He also shared his experience about serving in the Army and stressed how important it is that veterans pursue their studies and become integrated into the workforce. Eric will be seeking a public policy and legislative fellowship in Sacramento after graduation.

Evan Longoria attended St. John Bosco High School where he was a four-year letterman in baseball. As a senior he was a first team All-Sierra-League selection and continued his education at Rio Hondo College immediately.

Under the tutelage of Rio Hondo College head coach Mike Salazar, he earned first team All-State honors and was offered a scholarship by Cal State Long Beach.

Evan, who is now the rookie third baseman for the Tampa Bay Rays, has just agreed to a $17.5 million, six-year contract, a deal that could be worth up to $44.5 million over nine seasons. Taken third overall in the 2006 amateur draft, Longoria appeared in just six major league games before agreeing to

Student Success Stories

It is always difficult to select students to highlight, but these five students have stories that are representative of the tenacity and strength of Rio Hondo College graduates and represent a quality of character that is worth sharing.

Michelle Carcamo: In 1993 Michelle Carcamo enrolled in Rio Hondo College, but without counseling she was discouraged by her experience. She re-enrolled because she was encouraged to do so by some Rio Hondo College students that she met at her son's daycare. She came back to Rio Hondo and was able to begin her education with basic reading, writing and math. She joined Alpha Gamma Sigma, received Financial Aid, and joined the Extended Opportunity Program & Services (E.O.P.S). Despite other challenges which included moving and the illness of her mother, Michelle graduated with an Associate Degree in Administration of Justice— 15 years after she began her education at Rio Hondo College.

Ana Fonseca: Ana Fonseca is also an Extended Opportunity Program & Services student. She has achieved great heights academically, including maintaining a 3.5 and above GPA and making the Dean's list every semester at Rio Hondo. What makes Ana's story so special is that she did all of this as a mother of 2 who became homeless during the Fall semester.

Ana did not give up. She applied for scholarships and kept going. One of those scholarships was awarded to her by Congresswoman Hilda Solis and Monterey Park City Councilman Anthony Wong. Despite all of the challenges Ana graduated with an Associate Degree in Business Administration.

Bertha Glorae: For Bertha getting her degree has been a family affair. When her daughter was young, she asked her, "Mom, what college did you go to?" and Bertha responded, "Honey, I didn't go to any college." Her daughter replied "Oh...well when I go to college, you can come with me," and Bertha just smiled and said "Ok, honey."

Years later, this declaration by her daughter came to pass. In 2005 Bertha's daughter needed to complete a language course to graduate from high school so she reminded her mom of her promise years before and said "Ok mom, it's time for us to go to college." Thus began Bertha's college career. Her daughter is still a full time student and is scheduled to graduate next spring, her son is graduating from Stanford next month and her oldest daughter is studying to be a probation officer. Bertha has made her daughter's dream come true and has inspired her children to be college graduates.

Mireya Vigil: Mireya Vigil believed that higher education was out of her reach until she came to Rio Hondo College and the Disabled Students Programs and Services. Mireya is a single mother of 4 children (ages 5, 8, 17, and 19) and her daughter is currently a full-time student at RHC. Having a learning disability has always made being in the classroom very difficult. Despite these challenges, Mireya was dedicated to getting her education and she wasn't going to let anything stop her.

This Fall she will attend Cal State Fullerton. She has also received special recognitions from DSP&S. These include: DSP&S outstanding student, TRIO Top Student, Transfer Center Certificate of Completion, and the Rio Hondo College Human Services Certificate.

Cristy Killeen: Graduation was very special for Cristy Killeen who suffered through a 12 year addiction to methamphetamines, which led to several arrests, jail sentences, and a 3 year prison term. As a part of changing her life, Cristy enrolled in Rio Hondo College where she was hired as a student worker in the President's office. Despite her fears, she found that the President's staff welcomed her with open arms and encouraged her to be successful. After she got her first A she was unstoppable. With a lot of support, Cristy graduated on the Dean's Honors list with a 3.8 G.P.A. This is truly a miracle, and the best day of her life.

Drill Sharpens College Readiness

Months of planning by area agencies culminated in a realistic 'terrorist' scenario at the Rio Hondo Fire Academy Friday May 23, providing the opportunities for everyone to practice emergency response techniques.

The scenario included a poisonous gas 'bomb' that was planted at the Academy in Santa Fe Springs, affecting a large number of 'victims' (Fire Academy cadets) who were processed through a mock triage and treated with decontamination procedures. It was a cold and rainy day, making the cadets' role especially chilling.

Simultaneously, and as a surprise, the college's Emergency Operations Center was activated on campus, bringing together the principals who are charged with serving as the Incident Management Team in emergency circumstances.

Led by Dean Joe Santoro, who serves as Rio Hondo's Incident Commander, the local component mirrored similar drills held at Whittier High School and the Presbyterian Intercommunity Hospital. Dr. Martinez, who had been an observer at the Fire Academy Drill in Santa Fe Springs, rushed back to campus to participate in the EOC debriefing in the Board Room.

Nash Flores, Director of Public Safety, served as the Rio Hondo College representative during the planning and development of the multi-agency drill. Next fall, Rio Hondo College will participate with other community colleges and state agencies in a statewide emergency simulation.

Introducing Four New RHC Managers

Gustavo (Gus) Gonzalez, Interim Director of Facilities Services: After serving in multiple capacities in construction and facilities at Rio Hondo College since 1987, and in management since 2001, Gus Gonzalez was appointed Interim Director of Facilities Services. A bond construction projects.

He was instrumental in the preparation of the Space Inventory Plan, Initial Project and Final Project Proposals for the submission of the five-year construction plan to the Facilities Planning Unit of the State Chancellor's Office.

Gus received a Bachelor of Architecture Degree at CSU Polytechnic, Pomona, and worked as an architectural associate at a Costa Mesa firm for 12 years, providing design, construction, budget oversight as well as document production and staff supervision. Prior experience included serving as a project manager and as a draftsman for regional architectural and planning firms.

In addition to Rio Hondo College construction, Gus has been involved in major construction projects for the Los Angeles Unified School District, various public housing projects, the Port of Los Angeles, and community hospitals, as well as a multitude of commercial projects throughout the region.

Committed to mentoring future architects, Gus serves as a member of the RHC Advisory Committee for Drafting and Technology, teaches drafting as an adjunct instructor, and served as Chapter President of the East Los Angeles College ASEA Club.

Susan Herney, Director of Marketing and Communications: Susan Herney brings 20 years experience in community college marketing, communications and public relations to Rio Hondo College, having established the new departments of Community Relations and Public Information at Southwestern College and College and Community Relations for Grossmont College, both in the San Diego area.

Susan received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Communication and Public Policy at the University of California, Berkeley, and a Master's Degree in Organizational Management.

She served as chairperson and as a two-term member of the City Chula Vista Board of Ethics; chaired the Community Advisory Committee for the City of Chula Vista's Carbon Dioxide Reduction Project; served as a member of the Chula Vista Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors where she chaired the Chamber's Transportation Committee and Leadership Program.

Active in community college affiliated organizations at the state, regional and national levels, Susan served on the Board of Directors and as president of the National Council for Marketing and Public Relations in 2000. She was named the NCMPR national Communicator of the Year in 2003. Susan's marketing and communications project entries have garnered more than 20 first-place awards in competition sponsored by NCMPR and CCPRO, including categories such as Media Success Story, Feature Story, General News Story, Annual Report, Newsletter, Online Newsletter, Brochure, and Photography.

Dante Jackson, Risk Management Consultant, Human Resources: Dante Jackson is serving as Rio Hondo College's Risk Management Consultant. He has worked in the areas of industrial hygiene, environmental health and safety, hazardous waste disposal and emergency management for more than 15 years.

He received his initial training from the United States Air Force, in San Antonio Texas as a Bioenvironmental Engineering Specialist. Subsequently, he worked within the Aerospace and Defense industry for approximately 10 years, supporting the production of various missile and weapon systems at Edwards Air Force Base in Lancaster, California and Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville, Alabama.

Over the past five years, Dante has worked in K-12 educational institutions developing their Emergency Response/Disaster Preparedness Plans, Injury Illness Prevention Programs, hazardous waste disposal programs and mitigating Workers Compensation claims.

Most recently, Dante Jackson is a Risk Management Specialist for the Alliance of Schools for Cooperative Insurance Programs (ASCIP) and assigned to Rio Hondo Community College as a Risk Management Consultant.

Quad Design Meeting

The Rio Hondo College Building Program Management team along with representatives from Melendrez, a Landscape Design and Architecture firm, solicited feedback from the campus community on the new quad design Friday, May 23. The purpose of the meeting, which was attended by approximately 20 staff, faculty and students, was to let the campus community share their opinions on the project. The group shared ideas about accessibility and open spaces. Steve Massetti, Program Manager, spoke to those concerns and also took note of specific suggestions that could be incorporated.

There are renderings in the Administration Building and the Library Building until June 6. Comment cards are available at every site. The renderings were also made available for students to review at the graduation breakfast on May 29, 2008. If you did not get a comment card or would like to share your opinion, there is a survey on-line at www.riohondocollge.info/ or from the Rio Hondo College homepage under "building programs."

Mike Slavich, Interim Dean of Career and Technical Education: Since 1984, Mike Slavich has served Rio Hondo students in both full and part-time instructional capacities. Visual and Performing Arts on Campus

The Rio Hondo College Singers are going to Carnegie Hall!

June 16, 2008 will mark the Carnegie Hall musical debut for twenty-one Rio Hondo College students as they perform the Durufle Requiem with other vocalists from across the United States. The students have worked all year raising money, practicing music and looking forward to this rare musical opportunity. All of the students participating in this trip are members of the Rio Hondo College Vocal Arts Ensembles and several are also members of the Rio Hondo College Singers, an honors group of performers who already this year have performed the Durufle

Requiem with Whittier-based Chorale Bel Canto, the Schubert Mass in G with the LaVerne University Choir, and numerous choral performances on campus and for local service clubs. Linda Brown, the choral music director of the groups, emphasizes that diversity with the choral literature performed throughout the school year builds musicality and offers something for everyone. "Being able to sing the Durufle Requiem in Carnegie Hall is a once in a lifetime event, and can be life changing. For many of our students this is the first time they have traveled on an airplane, so this event is extremely important and special."

The Rio Hondo Mexican Folk Ensemble performs a joint concert with East Los Angeles College

The newly-formed Rio Hondo Mexican Folk Ensemble debuted this spring semester with an inaugural concert led by instructor Laura Sobrino May 14 in the Wray Theatre. Joining them on stage was the Mariachi Ensemble from East Los Angeles College. At first, each group performed separately.
